WHO:

First premiered in 1890 at the Imperial Mariinsky Theatre in St. Petersburg, The Sleeping Beauty has long stood as the crown jewel of classical ballet: a synthesis of music, movement, and design that continues to define the art form. Sacramento Ballet's new staging — shaped to highlight their dancers' technical mastery, expressive depth, and artistic individuality — is sure to delight and enchant seasoned arts lovers, as well as audience members just experiencing a live ballet performance for the very first time.

"We are so excited to present a fresh take on Sleeping Beauty for Sacramento Ballet," said Elise Elliott, Rehearsal Director. "Stefan and I have loved delving into this ballet together and curating a production that shows Sacramento audiences just how extraordinary our dancers and production team truly are."

"Sleeping Beauty represents the pinnacle of classical storytelling," added Stefan Calka, Rehearsal Director. "It demands not only technical virtuosity, but a deep commitment to artistry and narrative. This production is tailored to our roster of world-class artists and invites them to stretch their imaginations to bring these iconic characters vividly to life."

Audiences can expect a dazzling cast of characters, from the radiant Aurora and noble Prince Désiré to the benevolent Lilac Fairy and the formidable Carabosse, alongside whimsical storybook figures such as Puss-in-Boots, Little Red Riding Hood, and the Bluebird. With sumptuous staging, sweeping ensemble scenes, and moments of intimate theatrical poetry, Sleeping Beauty offers enchantment for audiences of all ages.

WHY THIS MATTERS:

Engaging with world-class performances like Sleeping Beauty provides significant cultural and personal value, fostering creativity, empathy, and mental well-being in audiences. On a larger scale, Sacramento Ballet's ability to present such monumental works connects the city to the global dance community, enhancing its cultural vibrancy while contributing to economic growth.

By bringing this visionary production to the California Capital, Sacramento Ballet continues to elevate the region's profile as a hub for artistic excellence — cementing Sacramento's place on the national and international cultural stage and affirming the power of live performance to inspire, transform, and unite.
